The Income Tax Lists.

Of the propriety of publishing to the world a statement of the amount of income of those against whom taxes are assessed by the General Government, there has been much variance of opinion. Among all civilized people there is a hesitancy to divulge anything which pertains to their private or business affairs. He who is but moderately inquisitive in this respect, even among his nearest friends, at once falls under censure of being impertinent and rude. Ordinarily, the domain of individual privacy is not to be entered by those who, without any real motive, are anxious to know another's business, or are desirous of making it the object of their meddlesome curiosity.

In general, it may not be one's proper business, to know the amount of income upon which another is taxed. If, however, a fraudulent return is made to the Assessor by any party, then the proper officer not only is is interested in knowing it, but even other citizens are also concerned in the matter. The burdens of Government are to be shared equally by all in proportion to the wealth they possess. An opulent, though unscrupulous and inveracious man, may evade the requirements of the law as too many have done, and the upright and conscientious, and it may be poorer, citizen will be under the necessity of paying into the National Treasury far more than his share. By this process it is feared that much of the wealth of the country has hitherto escaped taxation, and that great injustice has been done, both to the Government and to honest citizens—to the Government by withholding its revenue, and to honest citizens by compelling them to pay a tax disproportionate to the sum that would have otherwise been required of them.

Accordingly, if any person's income be falsely returned at the Assessor's office, it is both the interest and right of others to know it. Besides, it must be remembered that in very many cases, almost the only way by which the fact of a fraudulent return can be known, is, to submit such accounts at the Assessor's office to the inspection of those who, from intercourse with the supposed delinquent, may be best entitled to judge whether they are correct or not. The information thus procured may cause the matter to be investigated. By law, any one has the privilege of examining the Assessor's books. When the income tax bill was first enacted, the officers of this branch of the revenue were required to maintain an inviolable secrecy as to the amount of each person's income, but after a time it was deemed advisable to modify the law and fix it as it stands now. The expedient of exposing any man's stated income to the knowledge of all who may choose to ascertain what that income is fixed at by the party himself, has been found to exert an effect very beneficial to the Government. Many persons, when it became known that the tax list was to be submitted to the public eye, hastened to correct "errors and inadvertencies" which had hitherto escaped their scrutiny.

Quite a flutter was created in San Francisco recently by the publication of the amount of income of some of the chief capitalists of that city. The Bulletin, the paper which published the statement, hastened to deprecate the wrath of the parties in an apologetic article wherein it was stated that false returns arise more from "ignorance, carelessness or inadvertence," than from any deliberate purpose to defraud the Government. It is supposed that a regard for one's own interest will prevent him from overstating his income, and perhaps no case will ever be found in which the error will enure to the benefit of the Government or to the loss of the individual. Hence we are inclined to think that it is not often through "carelessness" that erroneous accounts of incomes are rendered.

In the East, the publication of the lists of those who are charged with the income tax, is said to be highly advantageous to the Government. The plan against which so great an outcry was made, is proving less odious to the people than at first. It may be presumed that these lists will henceforth be published there without much opposition. In California it is proposed that their publication be required by law after the first of May next. The spurious sensitiveness that would conceal what may, without injury, be known, will no doubt soon pass entirely away.

Gen. Lee on Arming Slaves.—It is known that Gen. Lee has long favored the project of arming the slaves of the South for the support of the rebellion. He believes it to be wholly safe and practicable to do so. Not only would the champion of the "Confederacy" become an Abolitionist, but he would also bestow upon the negro the reward of a home to induce him to fight for his beloved master. Let those who shriek the word "Abolitionist" as an epithet of obloquy, observe that the South not only thus proposes to free her slaves, but even to make them citizens and give them residences among her people. Where are the hateful Abolitionists now? A Richmond letter to the Liverpool Courier thus speaks of Gen. Lee's opinion:

"I spent a day with Gen. R. E. Lee, and when the subject of arming the slaves was introduced he said: 'I wish you to understand my views on this subject. I am favorable to the use of our servants in the army. I think we can make better soldiers of them than Lincoln can. He claims to have two hundred thousand in his service. We can destroy the value of all such soldiers to him by using ours against them. I do not see why I should not have the use of such available materials as well as he. I would hold out to them the certainty of freedom and a home when they shall have rendered efficient service. He has not given them a home, nor can he give them officers who can understand and manage them as well as we can.'"

Extension of the Limits of the Military District of Oregon.—It will be seen by the accompanying military order that Southern and South-eastern Oregon are hereafter to be included within this District. This will give the commanding officer of the District of Oregon an opportunity not heretofore possessed, of making such military combinations as seem best calculated to punish the bands of marauding Indians that have long been a source of trouble to our people.

Headquarters District of Oregon,
Fort Vancouver, W. T., March 14, 1865.

General Orders, No. 13.

Pursuant to instructions of 11th inst., from Headquarters Department of the Pacific, the limits of the District of Oregon are extended so as to include the whole of the State. This places in this District, Fort Klamath and Camp Baker, near Jacksonville, heretofore in the District of California.

By order of Brigadier-General Alvord.
W. I. SANBORN,
Second Lieutenant 1st W. T. Infantry,
A. A. Adjutant-General.

Spain and San Domingo.—Spain has evidently abandoned the attempt to subjugate half of that Island, not being equal to the effort. She expects to offer her protectorate to the Confederate States, as the next best thing.

DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

DATES TO MARCH 12.

Sherman and Wade Hampton—Retaliation.

New York, March 12.—The Herald prints a letter from Sherman to Wade Hampton, stating that in consequence of foraging parties having been murdered by the rebels after being captured, and labels attached to them with the words "death to all foragers," he had given orders to shoot a like number of prisoners in our hands, or those disposed of in like manner. Sherman says that he holds 1,000 rebel prisoners, and can stand it as long as Hampton.

The rebel general responds that he knows nothing of such murders, and that for every soldier executed by Sherman he will execute a Federal, making the officers as the first victims. He makes a long story about barbarities alleged to have been committed by Sherman's army, and concludes by stating that he shall hold fifty-six prisoners as hostages for those ordered to be executed by Sherman.

Appointments by the President.

Washington, March 12.—John G. Nicolay, private Secretary, was nominated yesterday for the post of Consul to Paris, to fill the vacancy created by the promotion of John Bigelow, late Consul, to the post of charge d'affairs at the French Court. The nomination was unanimously confirmed.

The Senate had confirmed George D. Hill, of Michigan, as Surveyor General for Dacotah Territory, and Lyman E. Munson of Connecticut, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Montana.

Flood in the Tennessee River.

Cairo, March 12.—Over $2,000,000 worth of goods and property were destroyed at Eastport, Miss., by the flood in the Tennessee river.

New York, March 14.—Gold, 189.

Probable Attack on Mobile.

New York, March 12.—A rebel dispatch dated Mobile, Feb. 28th, says: Twenty-two steamers and six Mississippi river transports are in the lower bay, and a large number of troops are on Dauphine Island and at Pensacola, indicating an early attack on the city.

A New Orleans letter of the 22d announces the arrival there of 2,000 exchanged prisoners from Texas, including a number of officers belonging to the Navy.

Project of Arming the Slaves.

New York, March 12.—The rebel papers have articles on the passage of the new enlistment negro act, saying that it is a measure of necessity and not of choice.

Wigfall, during the debate, denounced the Legislature of Virginia, and demanded the resignation of Jeff. Davis.

The speech of Hunter in the rebel Senate is printed. He is for the bill to arm and emancipate the negroes, under instructions from the Virginia Legislature, but entered his protest against it as an abandonment of the contest on the ground upon which the South seceded. He also showed from statistics that no considerable body of negro troops could be raised in the States over which the Government had control, without stripping the country of the labor absolutely necessary to produce food, and stated that the commander of conscripts, with authority to impress 20,000 slaves, had since last September been able to get 4,000, of whom 3,500 were from Virginia and North Carolina, and the balance from Alabama. Hunter also argued that negroes would not volunteer, and that those they had got would desert to the enemy who were able to offer them better prices.

Rebel Report of a Battle near Kinston, North Carolina.

Washington, March 12.—The Richmond Dispatch of Friday contains the following dispatch from Lee's Headquarters, dated March 9th: To Breckinridge: Bragg reports that he attacked the enemy yesterday four miles in front of Kinston and drove him from his position. He disputed the ground obstinately and took up a new line three miles from his first. We captured three pieces of artillery and three hundred prisoners. The number of the enemy's dead and wounded left on the field is large, while ours is comparatively small. The troops behaved most handsomely. Gens. Hill and Hooke exhibited their usual zeal and energy. Signed LEE.

Kinston, near which the fight occurred, is situated on the direct route from Goldsboro to Newbern, and is about twenty miles east of Goldsboro, and about thirty from Newbern, North Carolina. It is supposed this force of the enemy was advancing from Newbern against Goldsboro for the purpose of cutting the railroad at that point. It is not probable after this repulse that the enemy will attack, still less advance. It is likely we shall next hear of them falling back on Newbern or changing their course to some other point of the compass. This movement of the enemy was evidently designed to be co-operative with Sherman.

California News.

San Francisco, March 15.—The dead body of Charles T. Hill was discovered last night near the Mission. Appearances indicate that he had been murdered by a blow from a slungshot or club. The body had been dragged to the spot where it was found, and buried in the sand hill. He had recently arrived from St. Louis, Missouri.

Geo. Foster, a convict sentenced to seven years imprisonment, from Yreka, arrived in this city last night, and was immediately recognized by officer Rose, as C. H. Mortimer, who so nearly assassinated him (Rose) in Santa Clara county, last fall. Mortimer confessed his identity.

Rumors are afloat that negotiations will be made in view of the consolidation the rival gas companies of this city. Some of the officers of the new company deny it, while other parties on the inside assert that there is ground for the rumor.

Letters received per steamer John L. Stephens report that the Cerros Island adventurers who sailed in the schooner Ida recently, have discovered two guano islands on the coast of Lower California. The islands are estimated to contain 150,000 tons of guano, equal in quality to that of Baker's Island.

The oyster schooner Anna C. Doyle was wrecked on Yaquina Bay Saturday. All hands saved.

An organization of which W. C. Ralston is Treasurer, has been formed to erect a monument to Col. Rod. Mathewson, who fell at Crampton Gap, Maryland.

Greenbacks opened at 57@56.52 and advanced to 56½ in the evening board; they closed, brokers offering 56 and asking 60. Dispatches have been received quoting gold at 190, and some are said to quote a trifle lower.

Flour—California extra, $6@6.15 50; superfine, $4@4 50. Wheat market quoted at $3@3 50. Barley dull at 3@3¼ cents. Oats rule from 2¼ to 3 cts. Hay sells by the cargo at 25 to 32 50. Beans quotable at 4@5¼ cts per lb.

Arrived—Marmion, from Manilla, with 26,000 pounds of sugar for W. T. Coleman & Co. She made the round trip from San Francisco to Manilla, and back in 134 days, her Captain winning $500 on his time.

The trotting match of $1,500, mile heats and repeat, between Jenny Noyes, W. H. Seward and Hector Noyes, was won by Jenny Noyes. Seward won the first heat, Hector the second, and Jenny the last two. Time 2.40½, 2.49, 2.43 and 2.43.

Contempt.—M. Thiers thus descants on the office-seeker:

"Of all the appetites that curse young men the appetite for office seems to me the silliest and meanest. There is nothing which fills me with greater disgust than to see a young man eager for the poor distinction which an office confers. An office-seeker, for the sake of honor, is constitutionally mean. I have seen them beg of twenty one as prudential candidates on some small school district, and stick to office until everybody was sick of them. Whether it rained porridge or potatoes, paving stones or pearls, their dish was always out. They and their families had to be cared for."

A Beautiful Thought.—A writer, whose life has passed it meridian, thus eloquently discourses upon the speedy flight of time:

Forty years once seemed a long and weary pilgrimage to tread. It now seems but a step; and yet, along the way are broken shrines, where a thousand hopes wasted into ashes; footprints sacred under the drifting dust; green mounds where the grass is fresh with the watering of tears—shadows even, which we would not forget. We will garner the sunshine of those years, and with chastened step and hopes push on toward the evening whose signal light will soon be seen swing where the waters are still, and the storms never beat.

Colleges and Schools.—The California Teacher estimates that the amount invested in colleges in that State is $1,475,000. In these institutions 2,500 pupils are being educated. The public school property is valued at $947,000, and in the public schools 29,000 pupils are being educated.

The Port of [illegible] Expeditions.—[illegible] of the [illegible] the [illegible] which [illegible] lying in the [illegible] Magellan, during the trip from New York to San Francisco. The [illegible] was under the command of Capt. Falconburg:

"While lying at anchor at Sandy Point, Straits of Magellan, we [illegible] authority [illegible] not to allow any Indians to come on board while in the straits, [illegible] of the vessel [illegible] small [illegible] they [illegible] they [illegible] the [illegible] and get a [illegible] with pieces of [illegible] While lying at anchor in a place called Port [illegible] a canoe full of Indians was seen approaching the vessel, and, when getting close to the vessel, the Captain ordered them off, when they commenced to talk in Spanish, which no one on board could understand. The Captain told them in Spanish to [illegible] when one of them answered in English to go to h—ll, and commenced throwing large stones on board and firing arrows at the crew; during which time the Captain's wife came running on deck with a lighted torch in her hand, giving it to the Mate, exclaiming 'Give it to them,' &c. The cannon was touched off, the lead falling around them like hail, doing no damage, when they commenced paddling for the vessel. Getting within a few yards of the vessel, the Captain and Mate commenced firing at them, killing five of them, when the rest paddled for shore."

Annexation of Canada.—We find the following statement in a late number of the Pays, an influential Canadian journal, believed to be the organ of a large party:

The following question was discussed at the L'Institut Canadien, [illegible]: "Would not annexation with the United States be preferable to Lower Canada in every respect, to a legislative union disguised under the name of a Confederation of the British Provinces, such as adopted at the Quebec Conference?" The debaters, Blanchet and [illegible] spoke in the affirmative. The principal argument used by them was that in the confederation scheme of our Canadian Ministers the influence of each province [illegible] would be nil, and the Central Government invested with sovereign power; while on the contrary, in a republican and democratic confederation, such as that of the United States, Lower Canada would enjoy sovereign power, would have nothing to fear from the Central Government, whose powers would be far more limited, its language, usages, laws and institutions being protected from all hostile powers. Blanchet cited as an authority Etienne Parent, Assistant Provincial Secretary, who is far from being suspected by the most faithful conservative of republican predilections, and who wrote in 1850 a similar opinion as to annexation. A vote was taken at the close of the debate, when the Institute unanimously pronounced in favor of the affirmative.

The Savannah Fire Department.—One of the most imposing ceremonies of the "reviewing" carnivals in Savannah is said to have been the parade of the city fire companies, composed of negroes, and their inspection by Gen. Sherman. The men ranged in size from the [illegible] to the merest pickaninny—old men and young, protecting the rear and banks of the ebony column, all marching the city and chanting some unearthly song, not a word of which is intelligible to the uninitiated. Their officers are distinguished by fantastic hats and coats, gotten up with sole reference to gaudy colors. They gave command à la militaire, saying "[illegible]" instead of march, after the most approved style. Their engines are of the oldest pattern, and their hook and ladder is the invention which proved such a failure at the conflagration of Sodom and Gomorrah. One company is composed exclusively of boys, whose juvenile voices are described as chiming with those of their progenitors like the [illegible] of a piccolo with the [illegible] notes of a dinner horn.—Chicago Times.

Azarene.—This is the name now given to the recently discovered substance, obtained by the distillation of the resin from a peculiar variety of pine indigenous in certain sections of the State. This new substance, which has been submitted to a number of practical chemists for analysis, has been found to possess some remarkable properties, which bid fair to make its discovery of much importance in this country. In addition to possessing all the peculiar qualities of turpentine, without its offensive odor, it is found to possess the same influence on the human system as chloroform. It is invaluable as a remedial agent for rheumatism, piles, cuts, and bruises. It is also a very fragrant perfume, possessing the agreeable odor of orange-blossom. This quality gives it its present name, Azarene, which bids fair to become an important California product.—[illegible]

Military.—We are informed that a telegram has been received at the District Headquarters which states that Colonel Maury, First Oregon Cavalry, will succeed Gen. Alvord in command of the District of Oregon. Also that Col. J. Steinberger, First Washington Territory Infantry, is ordered mustered out of the service, his three years having expired.

Use None but the Best.—Thousands of worthless preparations are scattered broadcast over the land, purporting to be SPECIFICS for Consumption. Some may possess a little merit, but when it is known beyond the possibility of successful contradiction that NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP has accomplished all that is claimed for it as a remedy for ALL affections of the CHEST and LUNGS, it seems little short of criminal neglect for persons requiring such a remedy, to waste the golden moment in experimenting with any other. It is equally applicable and efficacious in all cases, young or old.

THE ROUTE TO THE NORTHERN MINES.—Not long since the Red Bluff Independent came out in a very absurd article in regard to the rush to the "Northern Mines," which, being copied even by the press of California, including the Bulletin of San Francisco, attracted some notice from the correspondent of the last named journal, who is writing his regular letter of affairs in Oregon. The Independent is very much interested in opening a route to those "Northern Mines" via Red Bluff. We copy the remarks of the Portland correspondent, and can vouch for their truth, as follows:

"The statements of the Independent as derived from Capt. Pierce concerning the route to the mines via Portland, the prices of freight and passage, will bear correction. It says that the distance from San Francisco to Portland by the 'ocean route' is 1,200 miles. It is about six hundred miles. Such a palpable mis-statement about so plain a matter ought to discredit all that follows. But I will not stop to cavil with the statement of the Independent in detail, but give your readers a correct table of distances and prices of freight. From San Francisco to Portland, 600 miles. Passage in the cabin, $[illegible]; steerage, $25. Freight by steamer, $10 per ton, and primage 5 per cent; on sail vessels, $7 net and primage. These steamer prices are high, but the Independent disingenuously omits the $25 fare in the steerage, where most miners travel. It is a short trip of three days, and I should think about as pleasant as riding one of Capt. Pierce's imaginary saddle mules for twenty days over an alkali desert in the burning sun. The fare on the steamer ought not to exceed $25 and $15. It used to be $40 and $20, but the companies have added $5 in each case for what they call the 'war tax:' that is, they have added $5 in gold to $40, to enable them to pay 2½ per cent. on that amount in greenbacks—just 82 cents. A little more 'war tax' would nearly ruin the owners. But to proceed:

By steamboat from	MILES.	PASSAGE.	FREIGHT.
Portland to Dalles	115	$15 per ton	$6
Portland to Umatilla	220	[illegible]	15
Portland to Wallula	240	[illegible]	18
Portland to Lewiston	[illegible]	[illegible]	25

These charges include railroad transportation across the portages at the Cascades and the Dalles, meals of good quality and berths extra. I have not given the distance to Lewiston by river, because I have no positive information at hand, but it is near 400 miles. These statements can be relied upon. I speak by the book. From Wallula or Umatilla to the Boise Basin, by land, according to the schedule of the stages that run over the route three times a week during summer, the distance is 200 miles. Over this road freight is taken on wagons to Boise City and Idaho City during the summer months at from 7 to 10 cents per pound. This makes the distance to Boise from Portland, leaving the Columbia river at Umatilla, 510 miles. The Independent also gives a table of distances and prices by the Red Bluff route, which calls it 350 miles from Red Bluff to Idaho City. 600 miles is very near the true distance, following the line of any road. This is evident from the following facts: From Portland to Red Bluff is 400 miles north; from Portland to Boise Basin is 400 miles east. Boise city is in latitude 33° north, about 180 miles south of Portland. This is all. For myself, if any man can by industry and economy make a living and lay by a little for a rainy day, where he is, I advise him to take neither route, but stay at home and peg away at his lawful calling."

THE SANITARY COMMISSION.—The officers of the Oregon Branch of the Sanitary Commission, have issued a circular letter containing an earnest appeal to all who are actuated by motives of patriotic humanity, in behalf of our suffering soldiers. The bounty of a grateful people ought to be constantly employed in relieving the wants of the self-forgetting defenders of the nation's honor. We append a letter from the Treasurer of the Sanitary Commission, which shows the amount of contributions by the Oregon Branch from the time of its organization up to November 4th, 1864:

68 WALL STREET, NEW YORK, Dec. 12, 1864.

MY DEAR SIR: My delay in answering your letters of October 17th, 28th and Nov. 4th certainly demands an apology, which is to be found in the constant pressure of work, mostly for the Sanitary Commission, which makes it impossible to be punctual in my duty as a correspondent. Formal receipts, however, have been regularly mailed to you, for the liberal contributions that reached us, from time to time, through you, from our patriotic and generous fellow citizens of Oregon, and the first of the series was also acknowledged by letter. They have been as follows:

		IN GOLD.	IN CURRENCY.
November	2d,	$ 162 50	$ 162 00.
"	gold bars	341 89
"	28,	4,310 72
"	prem on draft	150 86
December	6th,	535 00	677 00.
"	8th,	150 85	16 00.
"			$1,652 00.
		$5,652 82	$2,567 00.

Including the premium on gold ($7,461 91) the total amount received by the treasury of the Commission, from Oregon, since November 1st, has been $15,681 73. We are most sensible of the liberality with which Oregon has aided the cause of the Commission, and of our obligations to yourself as its representative. The unprecedented munificence with which its work has been sustained by the whole country, and especially by the new and distant State of the Pacific, seems to me a hopeful sign of the national feeling this war has called out, and a proof that we are, and with the blessing of Heaven will continue, one people from ocean to ocean.

I am very respectfully and truly, your obliged and obedient servant,
GEO. T. STRONG, Treasurer.
HENRY FAILING, Esq.,
Treas. Ogn. Branch U. S. San. Com.

The amount named in the letter above ($15,681 73) is proceeds of entire amount of collections reported by Hon. E. D. Shattuck, Secretary, up to November 4th, 1864. No acknowledgment has yet been received of remittances made subsequent to that date. Receipts of the Treasurer of the Commission at New York, will be published as they came to hand.
HENRY FAILING,
Treas. Oregon Branch, U. S. San. Com.

THE O. S. N. COMPANY.—What the above Incorporation have ever done to insult the dignity of the isolated press at Red Bluff, we are, of course, unaware. But knowing quite to the contrary of what has been written by them concerning the meanness of the Company, we will say, that if any ride on their boats in fear of their lives, they may remove the apprehension of all such danger, as the company never run a craft unless she is fit for service; never employ a man unless he is competent; and instead of "buying old condemned boats," they have built some of the finest steamers that ever divided water. No lives have yet been lost by their neglect, as we are aware of. To remove a suspicion from the Independent editor's mind, we can send him a certified copy of the above, if he desires it.

COTTAGE CYCLOPEDIA.—Mr. W. W. Scravendyke, Agent for a copious dictionary "of memorable persons, events, places, and things, under the title of the "Cottage Cyclopedia of History and Biography," by Ed. M. Pierce, has laid a copy upon our table. Of its typographical appearance and finishing, we are only able to speak at present; but of its contents, we propose to speak at some future time. The book is well printed, and well bound; it will be found an invaluable companion in the cottage on that account. Persons who are unable to procure the larger work of Appleton's, will find an opportunity to subscribe for this, as Mr. S. proposes canvassing the city, and also the State.

A FOUNDLING.—About daylight yesterday morning, a suspicious looking basket was found suspended on the gate-post at the Sisters' of Charity Academy in this city, and upon inspection was found to contain an infant not more than one day old, apparently. It was nicely clad, and its bed was made of an abundance of clothing appropriate to its age. The covering was carefully fixed, and consisted of a blanket and a man's woolen shirt. The infant is a fine, healthy appearing girl. As to the parentage of the little innocent, there is no clue to information.

THE BOARD OF DELEGATES.—The Board of Delegates of the Portland Fire Department met at the Council Chamber Monday evening—so few in number that no proceedings were had, and will endeavor to convene for business on Saturday evening. There is an important move on foot to prevent so many exemptions—and from all we are able to learn concerning the subject, it is likely to be adopted.

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN.—Rain—a drizzling mist was the order of yesterday. We were unable between "drops" to pick up a single of anything exciting. The steamer had left; there was no ocean craft in port—and the few draymen who were out with their vehicles, we venture, felt themselves absurd.

DEPARTURE.—The California Minstrels left this city yesterday morning for Idaho City and vicinity, giving entertainments at intermediate points on their journey. The troupe is a good one, and doubtless, will meet with "immense" success in the Basin.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICE REMOVAL.—Parrish and Holman, have removed their Intelligence office to No. 60 Front street, Pioneer Block.

COMMERCIAL.—The steamer [illegible], which arrived from Astoria on Tuesday night, reports two vessels off the bar, but none were inside to [illegible]. With the fair weather of the few days past, we should have three vessels in port at least, by Saturday night. The steamer [illegible] is looked for to-day.

THEATRICAL.—The play of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was presented at the Willamette Theatre last evening to a good audience. It was a "drizzling" night, but it seems the crowd had come out notwithstanding. The main characters were well sustained. There was one or two other characters which need no comment.

Street Improvements.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Are our streets to be improved this year? Is there to be any grading or any paving, and are any side-walks to be laid? Does the city charter give power enough to compel these improvements to be made? Have we a Council who will exercise the power, if they have it?

These questions are in the mouth of every one who has waded the rough streets of Portland for the past few months. Who will answer them? If there is nothing of public spirit here, if there is nothing of pride in the appearance of the city, merely the self-interest of property holders should accomplish something.

I notice it is proposed to plank Front street in part, and cobble stone it in part. Neither of these modes are suited to Portland soil. Cobble stone is not only expensive, but easily gets out of repair, and at the best, is a dirty, rough pavement, and injurious to horses. Plank laid in the ordinary way are expensive, because they last only a year or two, and have to be frequently renewed. But the Nicolson pavement can be laid down for about the cost of cobblestone, and will last without any repairs, from ten to twenty years. The cobble stone, and even the [illegible] stone block pavements of Chicago and Milwaukee are all being taken up and the streets relaid with the Nicolson.

The Nicolson laid on Lake street, Chicago, ten years ago, was last spring when I saw it, just as sound and smooth as when first put down; and, moreover, had not cost a cent for repairs, in all that time. That street, too, is the main thoroughfare of the city—being more like Broadway, New York, than any street I ever saw.

This pavement is composed of, first, a flooring of common inch board, tarred on both sides, laid upon the sand or gravel of the street to the required grade and crown; secondly, of blocks of three inch plank, sawed to a uniform length, usually six inches, and set on end in rows running across the street, the rows being kept an inch apart by strips of board two or three inches wide, set on edge between them; thirdly, of a composition of clean roofing gravel, mixed with asphalt and coal-tar, compactly rammed into the space between the rows of blocks above the strips; fourthly, of a thin covering of coal-tar and gravel spread over the whole surface of the pavement.

The flooring prevents the unequal settling of any of the blocks, and keeps the whole surface smooth and even.

The asphalt and tar prevents all decay in the woods, keeps out water, and cements the whole into a firm mass.

The space between the blocks gives a foothold for horses.

The block standing on end, and subjected to only end-wear of the fibre, wear down very slowly, the actual shortening being only one-eighth of an inch per year.

The pavement is smooth, noiseless, easily cleaned, free from dust and impervious to water and frost.

The fir lumber of Oregon is admirably adapted for this pavement. It is much better than white pine, (the material used in Chicago,) and will last longer. Why can't we put down this pavement on Front and First streets the coming summer? Would it not be well for the Council to appoint a committee to investigate? I think money invested in cobble stone and plank almost thrown away.

Brandreth's Vegetable Pills. This medicine, of enduring efficacy, is justly prized as a corrector of all disorders of the stomach and bowels, the common symptoms of which are costiveness, spasms, loss of appetite, sick headache, giddiness, sense of bloating after meals, dizziness of the eyes, drowsiness and cramping in the stomach and bowels. These symptoms long suffered to remain, a torpid state of the liver supervenes, and all the horrors of dyspepsia are experienced. Every function of the frame is [illegible] but a little perseverance in the use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS will restore the system from this state of disease. Two or three doses will convince the afflicted of their salutary influence. Soothing and Bracing.—There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as
DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.
Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and intermittent fevers, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction. Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere. m12

The Reason why so many Die with Consumption, is because they neglect to use the proper remedy in season. When the system is first attacked with a cough, oppression of the chest, or seated pains in the breast, Allen's Lung Balsam will cause the phlegm to loose, heals the irritated parts, and restores the system to health. Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.
NEWELL'S
PULMONARY SYRUP
HAS CURED THOUSANDS!
And it will Cure You!
"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences,
as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—[Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAN COUGHING!
Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure, but

NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup!
Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM!
Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.
He Had a Cold!
Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not
NEWELL'S
SYRUP.
KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

How the Lester Family Managed to Live.

BY MRS. M. L. RAYNE.

"Let me see; as we have company for dinner I shall make my favorite pudding," and Kate Lester rolled up the sleeves of her very becoming morning wrapper, and went to work sifting flour.

"What kind of pudding are you going to make?" asked Mrs. Lester, who was assorting a family "Noah's ark."

"Plum pudding," Kate replied, and she produced a spice box and some chopped suet.

"But isn't that rather expensive?" I ventured with the freedom of a very old friend, while reminiscences of an English plum pudding floated through my mind.

"Just listen to my receipt, Aunt Hattie, and you will see. It is a perfect gem pudding; and you can test its goodness at dinner. To begin: one cup milk, one cup chopped suet, one cup molasses, one cup raisins, three cups and a half of flour, one tea-spoonful of ground cinnamon, half a tea-spoonful of soda. There you have the whole pudding. It makes into a stiff batter which you can either steam, or boil in a cloth."

"And the sauce?" I suggested.

"Just like any other pudding sauce; we prefer to boil a portion of molasses or syrup, in ours, as it makes it darker and richer. You want to spice it well with nutmeg and add a little vinegar, or wine if you have it. The pudding is rich and excellent. You can use currants instead of raisins if you wish to."

Just then Mrs. Lester lifted her head from the depths of the "ark" and brought out an old-fashioned broadcloth coat.

"We may as well dispose of this to the Chinaman when he comes round, Kate," she said, holding it up to view, "your father will never wear it again."

"But I will, mamma," said Kate, placing her pudding in the steamer, "it is just the thing."

"Kate!" cried Mrs. Lester, in astonishment, "what can you mean?"

"Why, it will make a splendid postillion waist; such broadcloth as that is worth ten dollars a yard now. I have a pattern and can make it right up."

"What a girl!" said her mother, admiringly. "And this old velvet vest, what do you propose doing with that?" it is nearly worn out."

Kate eyed it in silence.

"That?" she said at last, "Oh, I will work papa a pair of slippers for Christmas out of the upper part, and the rest will do for piping."

It had been an oft repeated question, "How do the Lesters manage to live?" for the head of the family had failed in business, paid his debts and lived comfortably on a clerkship ever since.

I was beginning to see how they did manage.

"After you rip the hooks and eyes off those waists, Kate they can go into the rag bag," said Mrs. Lester, laying the articles aside.

"Yes, mamma, if they are of no use for linings. What in the world keeps Fanny?"

This was her younger sister, who presently made her appearance from up stairs, with a small tub of suds in her hand, a dust pan and brush hung on her arms, and her fine hair bound up turban fashion, with a white towel.

"What in the world have you been doing, Fanny?" asked her sister; "I thought you had gone to sleep."

"I've been renewing our bedroom carpet; I have washed every spot out, and it looks better than new."

"Washing it! what with?"

I looked admiringly at the young housekeeper, who, having divested her hair of the turban, produced a paper pattern and a roll of half-worn cloth.

"How do you like Kate's wrapper, Aunt Hattie?" she asked, as she carefully arranged her pattern.

"Very much indeed," I answered. "The pattern is new, is it not?"

"It is with us; we got it from a friend; and it is very economical, as it will cut the whole garment complete out of the skirt of a dress. It is just like a large circular with a seam in the back and shaped at the neck with a shoulder and armlet. It can be tied at the waist with a cord and tassel, or have shirrs run in it, like Kate's."

"You spoke of having company for dinner, Kate; you did not mean me, I know. Are you expecting strangers?" and I looked up as I asked the question, but, to my surprise, Kate had vanished.

"It is the junior partner in the firm where her father is employed, and I may as well tell you that he and Kate are betrothed. He is an excellent young man, or I am very sure he never would have won our Kate, though doubtless ill natured people will say that she married him for his money."

"Never mind Mrs. Grundy," I replied, "I think from what I have seen of your family to-day, Mary, you can afford to be independent of her and her sneers."

It was a very pleasant meeting that took place at the dinner table that day, a social reunion that left each one happier. The meat was well cooked, the sauces plain but excellent, and the pudding a real luxury, and the whole repast seasoned with the spice of table talk. When the gentlemen were gone, Mrs. Lester accompanied me to the sitting room, where we sat down to our work, leaving the two girls to dispose of the dinner dishes, for the family was without help.

In less than an hour the girls joined us dressed for the afternoon. Kate sat down at once to the task of ripping, cutting and basting, in order to accomplish her scheme of making a new postillion waist out of an old coat, and succeeded to a charm. While Fanny's nimble fingers soon created a neat wrapper out of a long discarded skirt.

And in that one day's visit I learned how the Lester family managed to live, and live well.

A YANKEE SPECULATOR IN OIL WELLS NEAR THE SEA OF AZOF.—If anybody is inclined to doubt the genius and "cuteness" of the universal Yankee nation let them read the following:

Col. Gowan of Boston, coming down from St. Petersburg, through Georgia and Circassia, when in the neighborhood of the Sea of Azof, stumbled upon some oil wells which the natives were working in a very indifferent way, and which the Colonel bought. He then came to Paris and London, organized a company, sent out men to work the wells, and ships to carry to London and Liverpool the products, and they are now paying handsome dividends. But what is more surprising still, the Colonel in returning lately from the Black Sea to Paris, stopped on the way at the Island of Samos, on the [illegible]

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS,
Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,
GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step and his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor— The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.
